PROCEEDINGS OF THE OREGON STATE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.

SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION.

SECOND DAY.

SALEM, Friday, February 23, 1872.

The Alliance was called to order at 9 A. M., and opened with prayer by Rev. E. Curtis.

Minutes of yesterday read and approved.

Joseph Magone and Joel Palmer were admitted as delegates from Siletz.

The committee appointed at the last annual meeting to confer with leading politicians and statesmen of this State as to the advisability of forming a Temperance party, was called on for a report.

E. H. Ryan read a report to the effect that the movement would be unwise and indiscreet at this time.

Major Magone, from the committee, offered certain correspondence, which was read.

Letters from J. N. Dolph, H. W. Scott, R. P. Boise, W. C. Johnson, S. A. Clarke and T. W. Davenport were read and placed on file.

The committee appointed to report by bill appeared and presented a draft of the proposed measure.

Mr. Simpson moved that the bill be considered section by section. Carried.

The first section was then taken up. It provides that any person wishing to sell spirituous or other intoxicating liquors in less quantities than one quart shall procure the signatures of an actual majority of citizens above the age of twenty-one in the precinct in which he may wish to sell, praying for a license; or if in a town divided into wards, he must obtain the signatures of a majority of the citizens above twenty-one years in such town or ward.

Jacob Conser moved to amend by striking out the word "citizens" and substituting "legal voters."

A spirited discussion ensued, in which Mr. Conser and others argued in favor of, and Mrs. Duniway, Messrs. Henderson, Meacham, Rogers and Thornton against the amendment. By degrees the debate merged into the "Woman Suffrage" question.

Mr. Driver said: "It has been urged here that, if women were but allowed the ballot, drunkenness and vice would speedily disappear. Women rules the world, and always has ruled mankind. By her great influence in forming the characters of men she moulds the nations to her will. Why have they not accomplished this great work? I dare to say that if the instincts of women were right there would be no drunkards. Consider the danger of giving to women the power of the ballot in this matter. In New York city alone you will find 25,000 prostitutes, whose influence, whose votes, would support the liquor traffic. There are 2,000,000 of such women in our land. Then go among the higher classes, and you will find it no easy matter to banish the social glass of wine from the fashionable dinner parties of upper-tendom. Again, the better element of womanhood would never be represented at the polls. Talk as you may, one half the women of our nation oppose the extension of the franchise."

Mrs. Duniway craved the indulgence of the Alliance to address her friend, I. D. Driver. He had come into the Convention and said that women ruled the world; that if woman would but do her duty as mother, sister or wife, there would be no drunkards. Do you mean to say, sir, that we, as mothers and wives, are responsible for every whisky bloat? [Sensation.] How dare you shift upon the shoulders of noble, sacrificing women the responsibility of this abomination, which they upon bended knees, in the agony of tears and heart-ache, supplicate this nation to wipe out! [Tumultuous applause.] You tell us of 2,000,000 fallen women who in their fallen estate would vote for the perpetuation of this evil, and for this reason the virtuous and upright should be denied the right. But what say you, sir, to the 20,000,000 of male prostitutes by whom they are supported? [Enthusiastic cheering.] I pronounce your libel upon womanhood a slander so vile that if we were but voters you would not dare to utter it.

Here Mrs. Duniway was called to order, and amid much confusion took her seat. By a liberal use of the gavel the President succeeded in restoring order and bringing the Alliance to a vote on the amendment, which was lost. Section 1 was then adopted.

Section 2 was next adopted. It provides that before obtaining signatures to his petition, the applicant for license shall publish his intention to apply for such license, for three weeks consecutively, in some newspaper having general circulation in the county.

Section 3 makes it a misdemeanor for any one, fraudulently and without authority, to sign the name of another to a petition for license; the penalty to be defined by the Legislature. Adopted.

Section 4 provides that if any one shall, purposely and with intent to deceive, sign any false or fictitious name to a petition for license, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, to be fixed by the Legislature. Adopted.

Section 5. Every person who shall, by the sale of intoxicating liquors, with or without a license, cause the intoxication of any person, shall be liable for, and compelled to pay a reasonable compensation to any person who may take charge of such intoxicated person, and $2 a day in addition thereto for every day such intoxicated person shall be kept in consequence of such intoxication; which sums may be recovered in an action of debt before any court having competent jurisdiction. Adopted.

Section 6 provides by law, 1st, that persons selling intoxicating liquors, be held legally responsible for all damages from the influence of intoxicating drinks sold by them, whether with or without license, and that licenses be granted with this understanding. 2. That premises where liquor is sold, by consent or knowledge of the owner, be held as security for payment of costs and damages. 3d. That it be made one of the conditions of the bond of an applicant for license that he shall pay all costs and damages resulting from the influence of liquors sold by him, and that on his failure to pay costs and damages, his bondsmen shall be held responsible for the same. Adopted. The committee also recommended the appointment of a committee of three to draft these changes into the form of proper bills, and urge their passage at the next session of the Legislature. The committee recommend further that the same committee of three be instructed to draft a bill providing for the submission of the question "License," or "No License," to the people of the general election in 1874, and at every general election thereafter until Prohibition prevails, and that it be made the duty of the Executive Committee to circulate petitions for the passage of this law throughout the State, to be presented to the next Legislature.

The foregoing report was adopted section by section, and as a whole, unanimously.

Mrs. Carrie F. Young was admitted as a member of the Alliance.

Adjourned to 1:30 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The President announced that he had appointed Messrs. Simpson, Thornton and Stitzel a committee of three to draft changes in the license law, according to the resolutions passed in the morning session. Mr. Conser introduced the following:

Resolved, That in the event that one of the political parties in any county in this State shall adopt and endorse the proposition amending the license law, passed by this convention, and the other party ignore or refuse to adopt the same, in that event we pledge the vote of this Convention and of the temperance element of this State to that party. Laid on the table.

Mr. Ryan offered the following:

Resolved, That this Alliance recommend to the temperance people throughout the State, to attend all primary meetings and conventions and advocate the adoption of temperance principles, and the nomination of true and tried temperance men for office. Adopted.

Mr. Rogers offered the following:

Resolved, That we recommend the friends of Temperance in the various precincts and cities of the State to meet on the second Wednesday evening preceding each State election, to examine the rival tickets to see if true Temperance candidates have been put in nomination for office, especially for the Legislature.

Resolved, That in case it is found that true Temperance candidates have been put in nomination by both Democrats and Republicans, that we do not consider it necessary to nominate any separate ticket; and in case it is deemed that only one of the rival candidates for an office will honestly favor our cause, that that one be designated as our candidate; and in case no truly Temperance candidate has been nominated for any important office, that an independent candidate be put in the field, in whom we have full confidence.

Messrs. Meacham, Stitzel, Powell, Payton and Knight opposed the resolutions, and Messrs. Rogers, Henderson and others supported them.

Debate on the resolutions occupied over two hours, and the house was crowded with interested spectators and enthusiastic partisans. The motion to adopt was carried by 114 yeas to 103 nays.

Mr. Conser's resolution was taken from the table and after a brief debate returned to its twelve months' slumber.

Mr. Stitzel offered the following:

Resolved, That for the promotion and carrying out of the work now begun in this State, tending in a short time with proper management, to bring about a great Temperance Reformation, we realize the great importance of having means to prosecute the work.

Resolved, That the Alliance do now appoint a committee to solicit subscriptions in sufficient amount to secure the success of such petitions presented to the voters of each county, city, town or precinct, as the Alliance may determine; said petitions to be presented to the next Legislature in proper form.

Adopted.

The Chair appointed Jacob Stitzel such committee, and that gentleman entered upon the discharge of his duties forthwith.

The Executive Committee were empowered to fill all vacancies in office.

Rev. Mr. Small introduced preamble and resolutions declaring prohibition the true aim of this Convention, and urging upon the next Legislature the passage of a prohibitory law. Laid on the table.

Mrs. A. J. Duniway offered the following:

WHEREAS, This Alliance realizes the power of the ballot in all public reforms; and

WHEREAS, Women are everywhere recognized as legitimate auxiliaries in the Temperance movement and have proven themselves active and efficient members of this Alliance, and have here freely exercised their right to vote; therefore

Resolved, That we urge upon the Legislature of the State of Oregon the necessity of passing an act instructing the judges of elections to receive the votes of women upon the subject of Temperance, under the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, in their various precincts.

Mrs. Duniway moved the adoption of the resolutions.

Mr. Conser moved to adjourn.

Upon a division the house refused to adjourn.

Mr. Conser said: There is evidently a disposition upon the part of some to extort from this Alliance an endorsement of woman suffrage. I regret it; for there is a question of grave importance awaiting solution at our hands. If an expression of public sentiment must be had, why do not these violent champions of Woman's Rights call a Convention to agitate this matter? Sir, it ill befits us as representatives of the order-loving people of this State to mar the closing hours of this alliance with angry discussions on a subject foreign to that for the consideration of which we were called to these halls. We are but just entering upon a deadly conflict with a powerful and unscrupulous foe. Shall we go to the battlefield fettered with these resolutions, burdened with the oppressive weight of a cause that can do us no good but may work untold evil? I echo the sentiments of many in this hall when I answer No! Let temperance be our only creed and battle cry. Woman suffrage, if it be just and expedient, should stand upon its own merits; let it do so, not seek to embarrass our cause by "entangling alliances."

Mrs. Duniway was very sorry that Mr. Conser was so tender-footed. She realized that she must talk now, for soon our mouths will be closed until next year. [Voice—"Just as it should be."] Mr. Conser is afraid of woman's vote. You have a great object to accomplish. You have striven for that twenty, aye, forty years, to eradicate this monster evil, but you have toiled in vain. Still does licentiousness throw poison into the wells of life and so diffuse its taint to an unexpected degree through all the streams and veins of public health. Still does intemperance set on fire the course of nature, itself set on fire of hell. Still does the war spirit send its maddening hurrah through the hearts of our people, ever ready to lead them out into piratical marauds upon our weaker if not honester neighbors. [Applause]; and can it be that all these things exist after the much-vaunted power of men has been working for their downfall? Now, is it not about time you were trying another tack? You have been experimenting for forty years. We tell you that with woman's assistance the victory is won. Why not try this experiment? There is here no "entangling alliance;" you are calling upon an ally for the assistance you so much need. I have warned you, gentlemen, that I came here to throw hot shell into your camp. Mr. Conser fears that this action will defeat the bill before the Legislature. If we expected to work in future, with the old, rotten, rum soaked timbers of your past Legislature this might be true. But I tell you, gentlemen, that we expect a new element. There will be honesty and virtue among the men at your next session, and perhaps there will be some women there to enact laws. [Applause.] Some have attempted to fix the ignominy of the liquor traffic upon woman. I deny the slander, and, looking upon these honest faces, I realize that the large-brained, honest-hearted fathers and brothers here are with me. Only a few wire-working politicians, and occasionally a preacher, are against me. Sir, the people are with us in the question of right rather than expediency. [Cheers.]

Mr. Driver arose to set himself right before the alliance. "He had been misunderstood; his words this morning had been misconstrued; his views on the woman's rights question were understood by the public too well to need much expression here. For years he had been an ardent advocate of any measure looking to the extension of the franchise to women of America. The ignorant foreigner who comes to our land tainted with the despotism of the Old World is endowed with citizenship and elevated to stations of trust and honor. Unacquainted with the workings of our Government he is yet allowed to frame laws for the commonwealth, while we deny the smallest boon of political power to noble minded, pure hearted women. I am an uncompromising advocate of woman suffrage." [Prolonged applause.]

Mr. Butcher—Although called a soft pated preacher by the sister, I cannot but believe her right. [Laughter.]

Mr. Wooden made numerous frantic efforts to be heard. Your reporter heard him vociferate: "Temperance Convention, woman's suffrage didn't come here—constituents, repudiate—don't go a cent on it!" Simply this, and nothing more.

The resolutions were adopted by a vote of ayes, 75; nays, 13.

Mr. Walling thought gag law was in force.

Mr. Meacham replied that he was in favor of passing nothing that would not bear discussion and investigation. With this in view I move to reconsider the vote.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Wooden moved to indefinitely postpone the resolutions. Lost. Ayes, 15; noes, 91.

Mr. Conser moved to lay it on the table. Lost.

Mr. Wooden—I think that this woman suffrage question is a damnable outrage. One woman has come into this convention and kicked up more fuss than all the other delegates, and I don't go a cent on letting her talk so much. I am a Good Templar, and those who know me know that I am a worker and will do as much as anybody to help temperance along. But if you are going to pass this woman suffrage resolution I shall get disgusted and want my name stricken from your rolls. [Cries of "O don't!" "Too bad!"] What do you suppose my constituents will say to me when I go home? [A voice, "Give it up!"] This thing is perfectly devilish. I won't stand it, etc., etc., ad infin.

Mrs. Duniway moved to strike out all that refers to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments. Carried.

Mr. Meacham made a very eloquent and effective speech of ten minutes' length, the power of which could be traced in the largely increased vote which followed, for the resolutions were adopted by a vote of ayes, 119; nays, 12.

Upon the announcement of the vote it was greeted with cheers lasting several minutes.

A resolution, appointing Mrs. A. J. Duniway a committee of one to urge the measure proposed in her resolutions before the next Legislature, was adopted.

Mr. McClain moved that when the Alliance adjourn it adjourn to meet in Salem on Thursday, February 20, 1873, unless sooner called together by the President.

On motion, adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock, to hear addresses by Mrs. A. J. Duniway and Mrs. Carrie F. Young.

EVENING SESSION.

Mr. Stitzel in the chair.

Mr. Wooden introduced the following:

Resolved, That this Alliance in passing the resolution introduced by Mrs. Duniway, praying the Legislature of Oregon to give women the right to vote on the temperance question, does not mean woman suffrage further than the temperance question.

Adopted. So the Wooden ghost was quieted.

Jacob Stitzel offered the following:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of each county also act as a Finance Committee, and that they do all in their power to solicit subscriptions to be paid by them into the general fund.

Adopted.

Professor Powell moved that the speakers be limited to ten minutes each, as there were temperance advocates from all parts of the State who should be heard.

Mrs. Young was called upon but refused to speak, and no persuasion could avail to bring her forward.

Mrs. Duniway was also proof to "the smile that was child like and bland," although the chairman plead the disappointment in winning tones.

Professor Powell was grieved; had meant no offence, and was willing to grant the ladies all the time they desired.

After being assured that they should have unlimited time, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Duniway addressed the audience. They were followed by T. H. Cann, Rev. I. D. Driver, S. G. Irvine, Judge Reuben P. Boise, Hon. Rufus Mallory and others.

Moved to adjourn to February 20, 1873.

Before putting the motion, the chairman, Mr. Stitzel, made a few earnest, well-timed remarks, urging delegates and friends of temperance to renewed activity, and at 10:30 the Alliance stood adjourned to Thursday, February 20, 1873, subject to the call of the President.

Your reporter tenders his thanks to the Secretary, James A. Smith, and other officers and delegates for courtesies received.

Colonizing Voters.

The following from the Farmer will be understood in Yamhill and perhaps some other counties to bear very heavily on some politicians, (including an aspirant for the U. S. Senate) not altogether unconnected with the Salem ring:

As the last days of February approach, we hear floating around disgraceful rumors that certain parties are "importing" voters into certain counties. No man who loves the honor of his State, no man of courage and true grit, who loves to see "fair play and let the best man win;" no man of common honesty and average decency, can afford to stand by and see any such dishonorable conduct, without raising his voice to rebuke and denounce it, and without pledging his honor and manhood to defeat it. What is an imported voter? A vile, scurvy scoundrel, who for a miserable pittance of money sells his right to be considered a man and citizen, to some other scoundrel who has money to pay, skulks in the byways of the neighborhood until election day, and then sneaks out from his cover like a sheep thief dog, hastily deposits a fraudulent and corrupt vote, and flies from the country in shame and disgrace. Any man that will thus act, justly forfeits his right to vote, and the laws should so declare it. He commits perjury in casting such a vote. Totally destitute of all moral principle, or a spark of honor as a man, and utterly regardless of the rights of others, an "imported voter" shows himself to be a base brute, who, for twenty dollars, would cowardly fire your barn at the dead hour of night, or poison the faithful dog who stands watch at your door. He may vote your ticket to-day, and to-night steal your horse and run away. He is a thief, a coward, a sneak, or a desperado, and you can't afford to have him in your community for any purpose, because the opportunity to rob is all he needs to make him a robber. And who is the man that employs such dishonorable means to secure a political triumph? As the suborner of a perjurer is a more dangerous and despicable creature than his contemptible tool, so is the man, who, having money, uses it to defeat the will of the people, a more dangerous person than the base hireling who by fraud and violence registers his corrupt purposes at the polls. Let all such be scorned in dishonor. They forfeit the confidence and support of all honorable and just men. If they would defeat you with money and imported voters, they would not stop at any other corrupt means to despoil you of your rights or property. The evidence that any public man is engaged in this dirty business, should be the signal for every honorable man to withdraw his support and take active steps to secure his defeat.

Let no partisan suppose a victory secured by such means will bring any substantial good to his party. The man who sells his vote to one party to-day will sell to the opposite party to-morrow. There is neither safety nor honor in such business. It is ruinous to the State and corrupting to private morals. We appeal to honorable men in all parties to frown it down, and stamp it out. If one party engages in it, let the other stand up for honor, fair play, and a pure ballot box; for on such a platform defeat will prove the crown of laurel. But you won't be defeated on such a noble platform. The people are not dogs and sheep to be led and driven by dirty politicians. Show them the right and the truth, and they will sustain it.

Corporal Punishment.

Rev. George F. Haskins, a Roman Catholic clergyman, and Rector of the "House of the Angel Guardian," Boston Highlands, recently visited several institutions for boys in Ireland, England and Belgium. He says:

I was pleased to learn that in one important particular a change for the better is taking place—in regard to the ancient practice of flogging children. Not many years ago it was the custom for every schoolmaster to stand before each pupil, in turn, of his class, with the book in the left hand, and the trifurcated leather thong in the right, and at every mistake made by his little victim, to bring down the thong with a whack upon the unlucky urchin's back. I have myself witnessed this brutality, not many years back. I well remember, too, when I was a little boy in Master Webb's school, in Mason street, Boston. Then the punishment of a boy was to take off his shoes and socks, lay him on his back upon a bench, and then bastinado his naked feet with a cudgel. Later "educators" have transferred the cudgelling to the naked hand. Others are living who remember well the old "ten-footer" school house on Mason street, and the bastinado.

Flogging is now seldom inflicted throughout the United Kingdom. In France, Belgium and Italy, all corporal punishment is forbidden by law, as a relic of barbarism degrading alike to the child and teacher. The grim old proverb, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," falsely ascribed to Solomon, is heard no more.

Formerly the rod was used in our institution, but for several years past it has been almost entirely discontinued by the teachers themselves, simply because they knew that such was the wish of the Trustees. Yet no law of prohibition of any kind has ever been made. Our teachers have discovered that there are other means of governing refractory boys than by springing upon them with claws of rattan and birch, and they never had better order and progress in their schools than at the present time. Flogging was once practised in the United States service. Why was it abandoned? Because it shocked men's feelings. What! shock the feelings to strike at the tough pelt of a man, and not to assault the tender flesh of a child?

THE TERRITORIES.

William Huntington, of Cowlitz, is lecturing at towns on Puget Sound in opposition to woman suffrage.

All Olympia is athirst. The County Commissioners have refused to grant any licenses for the sale of liquors in the town.

No great damage was done to the Northern Pacific Railroad by recent rains. A few land slides occurred, but no heavy ones.

The Port Townsend Argus says that Mrs. J. B. Frost, who has been lecturing over there, is "the mother of considerable buncombe." Neat criticism.

The project of a macadamized or a plank road from Vancouver through the Lewis river country to Kalama, is being discussed. Doubtless it will end in discussion, where it begins.

The Olympia Tribune wants to know what has become of the members of the Republican Central Committee of Washington Territory. It asks if they are asleep, and demands that they shall wake up and call a Convention.

The Kalama paper writes for Portland people to go down there and behold the beauties of the scenery, fresh from the hand of nature, 'ere it is hidden by the architect. We suppose there need be no hurry about going. Any time within twenty years or so will do.

The Kalama Beacon says: On Wednesday last Mr. J. L. Hallett, who has been awarded a contract to build thirty miles on the northern extension, left here for Pumphrey's, whence he is going to inspect his line of intended operations. We hear that he intends to commence work with a large force as soon as favorable weather will warrant.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Finances of Victoria are in a very satisfactory condition.

Dr. Trimble has been elected Speaker of the local Legislature of British Columbia.

A steamer has been chartered to proceed to San Juan Island to relay the telegraphic cable.

Papers demand the immediate abolition of all toll roads. Right. Such roads are generally nuisances.

A Victoria paper says that the ship Gungner will sail from that place in ballast for Portland and take a cargo of wheat for England.

Discussing further the Geneva Conference, the Victoria Colonist says: "Painful as the admission may be to a Briton, it cannot be denied that the United States is at the present moment presenting a more dignified demeanor than Great Britain.

According to a Victoria paper the harbor of that place at present presents a picture of "good old times." Three large vessels are discharging cargo; about a dozen steamers are in port, most of which are employed one way or another; lastly, there is the usual number of the smaller craft, which also find an excuse to trade between Victoria and the surrounding ports and districts.

Intelligence has reached Victoria that the American bark Zephyr, loaded with stone from Nanaimo for the San Francisco mint, was totally wrecked near Mayne Island a few days ago. The Captain (Hipson) and a seaman named James Stewart were drowned. She struck on a low, rocky shore, during the prevalence of a blinding snowstorm, and went down in 90 feet of water. Nothing was saved. The survivors of the wreck have reached Victoria, where they are cared for by U. S. Consul Eckstein.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Mount Baker is said to be in an eruptive state.

Our readers to-day get the remainder of the report of the proceedings of the State Temperance Convention. It is, by far, the best report published.

A number of retail grocers of San Francisco have been fined $50 each in the United States Court for having in their possession unstamped matches.

"Cut off my curls with your scissors, mama," is the foundation of the latest musical morsel. It is expected to be succeeded by "Lop my chignon with your knife, papa."

Lieutenant Grant's trip to Europe has caused our Democratic contemporaries much pain; but, asks the West Side, does it cost the people of Oregon one-tenth as much as H. H. Gilfry's trip to Washington?

The men who will never die are the men who voted for Washington, the man who first nominated Grant, the oldest Free Mason, the last soldier of the Revolution, Jefferson's body servant, and the man who originated the idea of the Pacific Railway.

The bark Zephyr, an account of whose wreck is reported under the head of news from British Columbia, had on board, with a large quantity of other stone, two immense columns for the front of the new Mint building at San Francisco. Each column was 29 feet in length and weighed 33 tons. They were valued at $6,000 each.

All accounts concur in the report that the Democratic managers are "colonizing" Yamhill county. The Yamhill paper says: "We heard in Salem of a certain Road Supervisor of this county who takes so lively an interest in our welfare that he spends a good deal of time in visiting Marion county to secure bona fide residents of the county for ninety days. More anon."

MONDAY MORNING FEBRUARY 26 1872

The Temperance Convention

In general the deliberations of the State Temperance Convention which has just closed its session at Salem were characterized by practical good sense So large and so earnest a meeting is a fact which is not to be lightly overlooked and is indicative of a breadth and energy of purpose on the part of those who urge modifications of our license laws which it were not wise to pass by unheedingly

The Convention evinced good judgment in avoiding the error of resolving on a third party or distinctively prohibitory organization Experience has demonstrated that such a party in localities where there is not a public sentiment to make it the ruling power does the temperance cause much more harm than good The reason is not far to seek the philosophy is very simple The great mass of those who agitate temperance reforms of course have their political affiliations with the political party which has advanced farthest in temperance legislation But temperance reformers (let us suppose) are not satisfied with what their party has done in this direction They want more thorough measures they are unwilling to wait for the slow movement of gradual reform Public sentiment is not prepared for the measures they propose their party finds itself unable to grant what they ask The result in such cases, has often been a third party or exclusively temperance political organization The candidates of such third party of course draw all their votes from that one of the two great political parties which has done most to repress the evils of intemperance by judicious legislation The consequence is a division by means of which the party that is most opposed to sound temperance legislation carries the day and often as a further result, former legislation tending to repress the evils and abuses growing out of the sale of intoxicating liquors, is annulled The advocates of thorough radical reform have thus thrown many an election into the hands of the party most opposed to them and their demands A more prudent course was adopted by the Salem Convention, and a course which will certainly bring better results for the cause which the Convention desired to promote

The chief feature of the change demanded in the license system is the enactment of a law requiring every person who desires to sell liquors at retail to obtain the sanction of a majority of the citizens of his precinct or ward, above the age of twenty-one years, before license shall issue Also that every person selling liquors shall be held responsible for the damages resulting from the influence of the liquors sold by him In those localities where temperance influences and restrictive measures are most needed, the first of these regulations will have little restraining effect, but the last one may do good by making the vender of liquors careful who he fills with intoxicating drinks

We cannot help thinking that the Convention would have marked out a path to a better result had it adhered to the resolution to require the dealer on obtaining license, to give bonds in a considerable sum say $5 000 to carry on the business in a respectable way to be prescribed by law Such a regulation would abolish the lowest of the places where the traffic is carried on and shut up those dens and haunts from which nine-tenths of the evils and abuses of selling liquors spring It would place the business in the hands of respectable men, who would have a direct interest in conducting it in a respectable manner This proposition was discussed in the Convention, but we are unable to learn from the proceedings that it was adopted as one of the measures to be recommended to the Legislature

Our report of the proceedings of the Convention is very full and we specially refer readers to it as a manifestation of the spirit of the Convention, and as an indication of the sort of legislation which is to be asked for at the next session of the General Assembly

Items Journalistic

The Eugene Journal has entered upon its ninth year It is among the most welcome of our State exchanges It has always been conducted with tact, with ability and with fidelity to the principles of the Republican party

We like the tone of the Dallas (Polk county) Republican That paper is right on all the leading topics of the time and discusses them with fairness and candor It often ably exposes free-trade fallacies

The Corvallis Gazette states that Rev C H Mattoon is canvassing the State for means to start a Baptist denominational paper Sixteen years ago he started such a paper (the Religious Expositor) at Eola Polk county but in those early times there were not means for its support

From the Albany papers it appears that there is much rivalry among the legion of Democratic aspirants for Congress in Linn and Benton counties Each seems to be afeard that some one of his rivals will make one more speech than himself Consequently there are from five to ten appointments for speaking in the back settlements each week Messrs Gaby Whitney Jones Cranor Johns Burnett and Helm—statesmen every one—are making the Santiam bottoms resound with their eloquence It is said that the "Young Lion of Linn" is secretly enraged and roars with redoubled vigor because Burnett of Benton is on his stamping ground

Do the Republicans of Oregon realize that thorough organization throughout the State will be worth several hundred votes to them and that it may save them the State? Doubtless there is a feeling among the Republicans of Oregon that their party throughout the United States is overwhelmingly strong and that its principles and policy are sure to triumph in any event but this fact does not release Oregon Republicans from their duty Organize in every county without delay

People of Oregon may look out for a large deficiency bill in the next Legislature It is believed that the present authorities have heavily overdrawn some of the appropriations especially that for the penitentiary building fund

Says the British Colonist (Victoria "If Great Britain cannot get justice at Geneva she can get it at the point of the bayonet That has never failed her yet" That is precisely the American view of the two wars we have had with Great Britain !

The Farmer says "The farmers living about Bethel Polk county will meet at that place on the 8th of next month for the purpose of forming a Farmers Club The farmers of Yamhill county are also moving in the same direction Every agricultural county in the State should have one or more of these Clubs"

The Whole Science of Democratic Journalism

We propose an anatomical examination of our kind friend of the Herald It will be necessary to make a first class job of it to place the subject in a suitable posture on our dissecting table Therefore we give in full the following article from its columns

> We caught our slippery neighbor of the OREGONIAN the other day through the aid of the Albany Democrat in the act of virtually suppressing the telegraphic dispatches but now he has adopted a new trick when the dispatches don't exactly suit him he interpolates them so as to make them suit Yesterday morning the telegraphic dispatches had the following
> > NEW YORK, Feb 21—A Columbia South Carolina dispatch says The election of delegates [illegible] Philadelphia National Convention by the Republican State Convention which met there yesterday resulted in the choice of seven whites and seven colored [illegible] A [illegible] a single exception are officeholders
>
> Such was the dispatch as it was sent out as the OREGONIAN had a short time before been commenting upon the impropriety of sending officeholders to the Philadelphia National Republican Convention its editor didn't like the dispatch as sent so he interpolated the word "State" before "officeholders" so as to make the dispatch read that the variegated colors were State officeholders and not officeholders under Federal appointment Such meddling with the dispatches is to say the least unjustifiable is a tricky way of sustaining party discipline and interest and is calculated as it is intended to mislead the public He has just as much right and no more to fabricate a dispatch to suit his purpose as he has to change one in this fashion he has here done It is an unworthy trick It is indeed such tricks as the one here exposed and that one exposed the other day which makes the Walla Walla Statesman pay our neighbor the dubious compliment following
> > The DAILY OREGONIAN has entered upon its twelfth year of publication The OREGONIAN is a good newspaper but politically it is the most unprincipled sheet published A thick and thin advocate it stops at nothing that promises to benefit the Radical party

I Had the Herald, in connection with its comments given the whole of the dispatch from Columbia, South Carolina, there would have appeared in the above article a triumphant vindication of the propriety of our action in inserting the word "State" Let us quote the rest of the dispatch beginning where the Herald left off We take it from that paper's own columns of the day before

> The platform adopted endorses the administration and remonstrates against the Federal appointments in the State, which it says were made by the President through misrepresentations Senator Sawyer says if those office-holders are not removed the delegates will probably vote against the renomination of Grant

Is it not evident from this that it is not Federal office-holders who have been appointed to the Philadelphia Convention? To suppose the delegates to be Federal office holders would make ridiculous nonsense of the dispatch. In that event we should have the spectacle of a Convention denouncing the Federal office-holders in the State, and yet sending thirteen of them as delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia Furthermore, we should see these office holders going to the Convention to vote against the renomination of General Grant, unless he should first conciliate them by removing them from office This is the story that the Herald wants us to believe The office-holders acknowledge themselves to be bad men they remonstrate against their own appointment say they were appointed through misrepresentation and unless President Grant removes them from the offices they hold they will "vote against his renomination" Such is the theory which the Herald adopts in a moment of blind malice for the purpose of accusing the OREGONIAN of an "unworthy trick" Such a course certainly does credit to the intelligence of our contemporary!

The general reader would understand from a close inspection of the whole dispatch that State office-holders were meant But in order to make the dispatch intelligible at a glance, we inserted the word "State" before "office-holders" The Herald, in its eagerness to make a point against us, neglected all the last part of the dispatch, and hence has fallen into a most ridiculous blunder Instead of impeaching the integrity of the OREGONIAN, it has simply brought itself into ridicule Handsome fix the Herald is in! Intelligent views it takes of current events!

Every editor knows that the telegraphic dispatches come in such a shape that words must be supplied in almost every paragraph to make them at all intelligible To instance we give this from the Herald of Friday

> WASHINGTON Feb 21—Brooks of New Jersey, supported the proposition and spoke of the necessity of opening telegraphic communication between the Pacific States and Russia

Brooks supported what 'proposition'? It is evident that something has fallen out of the dispatch which should be supplied In printing the dispatch we supplied the words 'Government telegraph' before the word 'proposition' thus making it read that Brooks supported the Government telegraph proposition, which evidently is the meaning intended The Herald probably had not noticed the 'unworthy trick' of this interpolation, and now that we have drawn its attention to the matter, we fear it may experience another spasm of unhappiness

II Of the Walla Walla Statesman's slur we shall next take notice Its accusation against the OREGONIAN is, substantially that it is an unyielding advocate of Republican principles and often disturbs Democratic equanimity by refuting the base slanders upon the Republican party and a Republican administration, which are coined and put in circulation by such totally unscrupulous sheets as itself Right before us is a case in point The Walla Walla paper publishes and the Herald copies this

> It will be recollected that a few months back we published the story of the examination of the safe of the Receiver of Public Money at Olympia and the fact that it had been discovered that all the money had been drawn out by Salomon and his friends that finally the money was restored that when the Government agent proposed to examine the safe a second time the combination had been changed that under these circumstances he had the safe sealed up and sent to San Francisco, there to be opened by Government officers We now have the report of the examination made in San Francisco, which is to the effect that not a dollar was found in the safe—not even the color We have here a robbery of over $30 000 Government funds The question now is whether any attempt is to be made to punish the thieves? The mere removal of the Receiver and subsequently of the Governor from office is not the punishment the law contemplates for an offence of this kind and it is not what is demanded by public opinion In New York when Charles O Conor devoted himself to the exposure of the Tammany frauds he was not content with the mere removal of the offenders from office but had them followed up and indicted in the courts This was the course pursued with the Tammany rascals and the same measure of justice should be meted out to the Radical thieves in Washington Territory

The Herald endorses this as truth We have means of knowing that there is not a color of truth in it No such report of the examination made at San Francisco has been received from any source which entitles it to the least credit When the safe was opened the money supposed to be there was found in it Not a dollar was drawn out by Salomon and friends The statement as above presented was cooked up by the Walla Walla paper or by some equally irresponsible libeller It is because we are in the habit of refuting and branding as they deserve Democratic falsehoods like this that we find no favor in the eyes of such organs of calumny as the Walla Walla States an Were we to pass over their slanders in silence or now and then assist in giving them circulation doubtless we should gain their applause

The Herald will be obliged to find one more creditable witness against us than the calumnious sheet which we have here exposed

III The Herald again asserts that we virtually suppressed a dispatch the other day The assertion is entirely untrue We have shown that we not only printed the dispatch but printed additional information about the affair to which it related Before this charge was made we had already given more information about it than any other paper in the State If the Herald sees proper to continue its unfounded assertions on the subject after the complete refutation of them by us it is welcome to do so But we would kindly admonish it that its habit of boasting of honesty without practicing it will not in the long run lead to satisfactory results

To conclude we regret to say that in their general characteristics both the Portland Herald and Walla Walla States are not unlike a majority of the journals of their party Since their party has no principles or policy that they can define they have become simply scurrilous sheets they gather together and pour into their columns all the indiscriminate slanders which they find floating in windy rumor and the more these rumors savor of the feculence and ordure of calumny, the more eagerly are they sent into circulation through the channels of this sort of journalism One of them (as the paper at Walla Walla) invents a story like that we have exposed above, another of them (as the paper at Portland) catches it up and vouches for its truth The next one that copies it invents and adds other particulars This at present is the whole science and scheme of Democratic journalism The organs of the party subsist on calumnies as toads subsist amid noxious exhalations and though their assertions be refuted never so often they repeat them with a hardihood that knows no shame Here again, is the Herald, asserting for the hundredth time that President Grant has quartered all his relatives near and remote on the Treasury of the United States though the charge not long ago, when presented in detail, was completely refuted—it being shown that a large number of those so called relatives are not relatives at all, and that most of the few on the list who are relatives of the President were appointed before he took office But the intrepidity of Democratic journalism seldom stands at a pause for so small a reason as that its statements are shown to be without foundation

OREGON

There are 251 school children in Eugene

The freshet did but little damage about Eugene

The saw mill at Corvallis lost a large number of logs during the freshet

A very lively tiger was captured at Jacksonville a few nights ago

The recent rise of the Columbia river at the Dalles was about twenty feet

The schooner Elnor A came over the Yaquina bar the other day drawing [illegible] feet of water

Indian women dressed in flaming calicoes and high heeled gaiters are flaunting about Eugene Suggestive of the presence of a bad class of white men

A portion of the bridge that crosses the Deschutes river at Gordon's belonging to the Dalles Military Road Company was carried away by high water a few days ago

It is said that the Santiam river has cut a new channel and turned away from the head of the ditch that carries water to Salem, and that consequently when the river falls no water will enter the ditch

The largest crowd that ever assembled in Salem on the occasion of a sociable was on last Thursday night at the Opera House The affair was gotten up by the members of Capital Lodge, and was pleasing in every particular

The Eugene Guard says: "The hand shaking season of 1872 has commenced and the two men in this city who are not candidates for office are obliged to take back alleys to travel on, to avoid being shook to pieces by all those who are."

A son of Frank Glover had one of his hands caught in the machinery of the Salem ferry boat on Saturday. It was so frightfully mangled that it was amputated at the wrist The same youth a year or two ago had one of his legs crushed in a saw mill

A recent letter from Goose Lake gives this: The weather is fine the ground clear of snow, farmers plowing and sowing grain; stock is fine and fat without being fed; snow has fallen to the depth of six inches in the valley but left the ground bare in three days

The Mountaineer's letter from Canyon City contains this: Some time in January Messrs McCullough & Hellman had their books stolen from their store for the recovery of which they offered a reward of $500 coin and no questions asked On the 11th instant the books were found by Mr John Powers, who received the reward There is some mystery attached to these books, which our informant did not exactly understand

From the Eugene Journal The Democratic majority in this county is going "where the woodbine twineth" During the past week a staunch Democrat—Dr John Williams, colored—left for parts unknown The Doctor was so enthusiastic in the exhibition of his Democratic proclivities that he and the City Recorder were continually having business of an unpleasant nature and to avoid this we presume he has gone to hunt a place where a man can act Democratic without being bothered

From the Dalles Republican As a young man named Burson was coming from Halleck's mill with a load of lumber drawn by two yoke of cattle on last Wednesday the bridge across the Hookroal at Allendale broke down, letting the team and wagon fall a distance of nearly thirty feet into the creek The wagon was badly broken One of the oxen was killed another hurt so that it can hardly recover, and the remaining two considerably injured The young man jumped off as soon as he heard the bridge crack and escaped uninjured The bridge we are told has been condemned for some time but as there was no other convenient way to get to town from that direction people kept crossing it feeling all the time that it was dangerous to do so

The Freshet in Yamhill

The following is from the Westside of the 23d

It is probable that there has never been a rise in the streams of the Willamette valley as rapid, as high or as long continued as the present one that has been caused entirely by rain The freshet of 61 which exceeded this only by about ten feet was caused by the sudden melting of snow in the mountains while this results from good square rainfall Hence we call the rainstorm of the past two weeks the heaviest ever seen in this country Yamhill county is by nature much favored in respect to surface drainage and there is consequently little chance for damage by flood The dam of Miller's mill was carried away and the consequent strain upon Brooks mill below caused some damage to that dam but beyond this we hear of little loss excepting in the matter of washing away bridges The bridge across the North Fork between here and Lafayette was nine inches under water but did not rise but the apron was lifted and swung out of place so that there will be delay even after the water subsides We hear that the bridges on Baker and Panther creeks are gone and also a great many on smaller streams but as the water is falling now it will be but a short time before the roads are again opened for travel The mails have been blockaded for two weeks our only communication with the world being by boat

SUBJECT— MISTAKES

Mr NESBIT'S Lecture on "Shoddy," delivered in our Course of a year ago was such a decided success that no one who heard him then will fail to hear him this time The subject will admit of the same general treatment as "Shoddy" and will enable him to present the many different kind of mistakes which make up the total of failure in human affairs, or from which we gain the experience necessary to success

He will show the variety of mistakes, their use and danger—mistakes sad and ludicrous mistakes in love marriage business kitchens fish reforms, religion politics &c &c The Lecture will abound with illustrations, drawn from the whole field of literature as well [illegible] here and there, together with recitations from various authors

In obedience to a generally expressed desire Mr Nesbit has consented to recite again the beautiful and inspiring poem of "Barbara Fritchie," in the previous rendition of which he showed himself a finished and dramatic elocutionist

CITY.

THE ROMANCE OF A CORPSE.—The newspapers, with the aid of a coroner's jury, have gone and done it, now, and that "corpse that Mitchell bought" is no longer a mystery, whatever may remain of the ghastly horror of its discovery. We are not prepared to say that the explanation of the mystery is altogether a string of hard facts by which a practical mind would trace the history of the blackened and repulsive heap of remains, found here by Mitchell in a box, through all the mutations they must have undergone, back to their identity with a living man, having a certain name and habitation. But be this as it may, the romance which is now received is better, in some respects, than the blank mystery we had at first. This is the romance: John Clark, [illegible] known as "Johnny Clark," was, some years ago, a packer in Idaho. He was a bold, bad man, and the Vigilantes marked him for their own. He was suspected of being connected with, and a leader of a gang of "Road agents." He committed a murder at Idaho City, and was arrested and cast into jail. While he was thus imprisoned, the Road agents were going on badly and several murders were committed by desperadoes in various parts of the Territory. The Vigilantes were aroused to unusual wrath and they commenced going for the roughs and suspected agents in the most decidedly lively style. John Clark, being in jail, was a handy subject to practice on, and the Vigilantes took him out, tried, convicted and hung him, in less than two hours. The dead body was then buried in a rude box. John Clark had a sister, a respectable lady residing somewhere in California, who [illegible] what had been done to her naughty brother, went to Idaho, dug him up and hired a man [illegible] Thomas to bring him down to Oregon for [illegible] to California, where she purposed to give him Christian burial. Thomas did as he was [illegible] brought the body to Umatilla where [illegible] has been heretofore stated, shipped to [illegible]. Before its arrival, however, the sister [illegible] the corpse, left the city for her home in California, since when her brother or any other man has heard no word of her. The man Thomas also departed to lands unknown, as [illegible] of the romance has it, and to Yreka, as [illegible] has it. We know of no good reason why we [illegible] not say that he went to Australia [illegible] his name to Smith, thus breaking the last link that might lead to his identity. [illegible], however, we don't know that he did. One story, though, is as good as another in a case [illegible] nobody knows anything at all about the [illegible]. John Clark remained quiet in his little box in the O. S. N. Co.'s warehouse till Mitchell bought and found him, nobody having ever called to pay [illegible] their respects or the freight charges. In [illegible] this romance, we do not undertake to say that all the facts stated are facts; on the [illegible] we incline to the suspicion that a good many of the links of the history of the unknown [illegible] out of imagination's workshop. We [illegible], however, prove anything of the sort, and [illegible] is a great social necessity that there should [illegible] theory set up right away instead of the [illegible], we are content to adopt the above, and [illegible] it to the public as the best that can be done under the circumstances.

A MATTER OF BUSINESS.—Referring to a statement that Portland merchants hold their prices far higher than do those of San Francisco, [illegible] article, the Seattle Intelligencer has [illegible] to say: "That 'people in trade,' for years [illegible], by the merchants of Portland, had [illegible] of a growing diversion of the [illegible] Sound traffic from that city to a much more natural and, beyond all question, better [illegible]. Our merchants who are foremost in the [illegible] are gainers, and, profiting by the [illegible], they are now ordering the most of their [illegible] from San Francisco, and it will not be long [illegible] that emporium of the Pacific will [illegible] our entire trade. A trade once lost to a place is not [illegible] regained, and in this [illegible] that it should be, as the Portland [illegible] seem illy prepared to [illegible] with or to undersell those San Francisco wholesalers from which the bulk of their goods is [illegible], and from which merchants here can [illegible] on as advantageous terms as they. The flour trade [illegible] to is but one item and in that we notice a marked decline, as purchases of that [illegible] are now made in San Francisco to a [illegible]. In two years from this time [illegible] and dairymen should be able to produce [illegible] breadstuffs, grain, bacon, butter, and [illegible] for our own consumption. When they [illegible] on Portland and its pretensions to a control of any part of our trade will end." There may be something in the above [illegible] it would be well for our merchants to consider.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE IN COURT.—The other day a [illegible] indicted in the name of Wong [illegible] two or three hundred dollars' [illegible] of plum, money and clothing, was convicted in the Circuit Court of larceny only—the [illegible] proved to have been stolen by him [illegible] of the value of $19. On the preliminary examination, the evidence was clear as to the identity of the thief and strong as to the value of the [illegible]. Since the conviction of petit larceny, the [illegible] alleged that the man convicted and [illegible] is not the man who was charged and [illegible] before the committing magistrate. It is [illegible] that the first thief, who was admitted to bail, compromised the matter with his accuser and the [illegible], and then hired the second [illegible] and reckless Chinaman, to take his place in the prisoner's dock and to [illegible] him in jail. All of which proves that Ah Sin [illegible] more tricks than he [illegible] Jim Nye.

[illegible] TO BE REPEATED.—The musical and literary entertainment given at the hall of [illegible] Lodge, No. 12, I. O. G. T., Tuesday [illegible], February 20th, will be repeated [illegible] February 27th, with a revised [illegible]. The [illegible] has determined to [illegible]. Admission, 25 cents [illegible]. The following is the programme:

1. [illegible] full chorus—"Our Army."
2. [illegible] "Sixteenth Amendment."
3. [illegible]
4. "The Bridal Wine-cup."
5. Song.
6. Tableau—"Army and Navy."
7. Song.

To conclude with a humorous piece, entitled "[illegible] Minutes for Refreshments."

THE Y. M. C. A. COURSE OF LECTURES.—The Young Men's Christian Association advertise this [illegible] their annual course of lectures. The [illegible] who has come to look forward to this course as [illegible] feature in the list of winter entertainments [illegible]; and although it [illegible] a little late this year we feel sure that a glance at the list of [illegible] will assure any lecture-goer that the delay is [illegible] compensated for by the superior attractions now presented. Several of the lecturers have [illegible] upon the platform heretofore in this city. The needs of the Association for funds to carry out its noble purposes of charity and relief are now pressing, and it is to be hoped that the public will properly respond to this call upon its generosity and give the course a generous patronage.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.—A young man whose name was registered as C. Moe, of Cathlamet, Washington Territory, who arrived two days ago, died on Friday, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the St. Charles Hotel. The Coroner, T. J. Dryer, was notified to hold an inquest upon the body, and upon diligent inquiry it was found that he came there sick, and physicians were called (Drs. Watkins and Kellogg). Dr. Watkins decided that he was not able to be moved to the County Hospital, and he died at the hotel. The Coroner [illegible] that it was not necessary to hold an inquest, and therefore took charge of the body and gave it decent burial.

FOR THE UPPER COLUMBIA.—The O. S. N. Co will commence to-day to receive freight for Umatilla and Wallula. The first boat for Wallula will leave Celilo next Saturday morning, March 2d. [illegible] leaving this city Friday morning for the upper Columbia will connect through by that boat. The resumption of navigation will have a tendency to revive business, both here and in Eastern Oregon and Washington.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION.—The committees of the several Irish societies of this city met yesterday and appointed a Committee of Arrangements, as follows: Messrs. Joseph J. Meagher, Owen Kinney, P. B. Sinnott and Dr. Kidd. Mr. J. A. Carroll was appointed Treasurer.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—The great historical drama of "Massaniello, or the Dumb Girl of Portici," will be performed this evening, with new scenery and properties, and with all the gems of songs, choruses and arias from the operatic version. The drama is founded upon the revolution, of Naples, against the oppressive measures of the regency in the year 1647. Massaniello, a fisherman and a malcontent, took advantage of a riot in the streets of Naples, to place himself at the head of a revolutionary movement which in a remarkably brief time, assumed such magnitude as to drive the Governor out of the city and to give the insurrectionary leader a force of one hundred and fifty thousand men. Massaniello was chosen Governor, and he caused a forum to be [illegible] in the market place where he sat to give audience to plaintiffs and administer justice. He finally, however, became as capricious and despotic that a second plot to assassinate him was successful. His rule, though short, furnished [illegible] exceedingly dramatic material which has been worked up into both opera and drama. The version to be presented to-night, contains the best parts of both, and will close with a grand tableau and back view of Mt. Vesuvius in active rupture.

Aggravated Indigestion.

Persons who are predisposed to dyspepsia, find their sufferings from this cause greatly aggravated by damp weather, easterly winds and sudden changes from a mild to a chilling atmosphere. In the spring, therefore, the pangs of indigestion are seriously augmented by the atmospheric variations peculiar to the season, and it is incumbent upon all who desire to pass through the ordeal of its cold mists and insalubrious gales with easy stomachs, and untormented by the indescribable torments which accompany dyspepsia, to tone and strengthen the digestive organs with a healthful and effective vegetable invigorant; and no one at all familiar with the medical record of the age, can question for one moment that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the Tonic best adapted to this purpose.

The credentials of the Great Restorative are unequalled in number and character by those of any other advertised medicine in the world. If ever there was a preparation to rank as a National Remedy, this wonderful specific has a right to the title. For a period of twenty years it has literally been the Champion Tonic and Alterative on this side of the Atlantic. In popularity it has never been approached by any of its would-be competitors, and its annual sales are so far in advance of those of any other medicine of its class, that comparisons would be ridiculous. One of two conclusions is inevitable: Either Americans are deficient in common sense, incapable of rational discrimination, or Hostetter's Bitters is the best preventive remedy for indigestion, fever and ague, bilious remittent fever, constipation, rheumatism, nervous complaints, and all maladies of an epidemic or endemic type. The reader can judge for himself which of the two conclusions is most consistent with fact and reason.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation in them lies in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two-and-a-half miles (on a direct line) [illegible] are selling as high as $200,000 per block! Just think of it! $50 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that long, and quite as wide, and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have [illegible] a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre. $10 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since [illegible] still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

The Rothschilds

[illegible] SYNAGOGUE [illegible]

About thirty years ago when [illegible] Frankfort under the guidance of [illegible] I recollect being taken to an exceedingly small and dirty street in the Juden gasse or what might be called the slums of the town and being assured that there dwelt the mother of the Rothschilds race and that no one dared to cleanse either the house or the adjoining synagogue from its primeval filth as long as the old lady lived so wedded was she like the rest of her tribe to ancient customs and antiquarian dirt

In the middle of the last century that identical house bore the sign of a broad shield with the inscription Zum Rothen Schild The Red Buckler where dwelt a poor Jew named Moses Amschel whose son Meyer the founder of the family wealth was born there in 1743 The father had gradually, as is so frequently done in Scotland, assumed the name from the sign post which his house bore Thus Moses Amschel von Rothen Schild or 'Moses of the Red Shield,' like mine host of the Red Lion so common in English provincial towns, became Moses Roth's schild, and hence by a very natural transition this was changed into the world-wide name of Rothschild

Meyer began life as an errand boy to his very poor father who wished to make his son a rabbi, as the ambitious cotter of Ireland hopes to see one of his kin a Maynooth priest It was, however, ordered otherwise, and Meyer's first step in life was passing from the situation of errand boy in his paternal home to that of a small clerk in the house of Openheim, the banker of Hanover And the cause of his great rise may be traced as follows

In the year 1801 the Hanoverian General Von Estorff, a personal friend of William IX, Landgrave of Hesse Cassel, was consulted by the latter respecting a suitable person for the situation of banker to the Court. Von Estorff had observed Meyer Rothschild as the cleverest clerk of Openheim's house, and proposed to introduce him to the Landgrave as one of the best financiers he had ever met. On being summoned to the palace one afternoon, Rothschild found William and Von Estorff engaged at chess, the latter evidently getting the best of it The Jew stood for a long time waiting patiently behind the Landgrave's chair, without a word having been spoken by any one, until at length William, turning abruptly to Rothschild, said, "Do you know anything of this game?"

"A little; and if your highness will give me leave to suggest certain moves, I think you will win the game."

"Out with it, then," replied the Landgrave And by following the clerk's advice, William won the game, which so pleased him that he at once promoted Rothschild to the office of courtbanker

Five years later, when William had to fly from the tyranny of Bonaparte, which then overshadowed Germany, (a striking contrast to the marvels of Sedan and Metz in the year 1870), he intrusted his wealth, which was very great, to the care of the diligent banker, and the landgrave's confidence in him was such that he would take no note or acknowledgement from Rothschild of the large sums intrusted to his care. The banker, with commendable foresight, concealed several millions in hogshead casks of wine which were standing in his cellar, and thus preserved the money from the rapacious hands of the French soldiery—who, like their successors, the Prussians, when invading France, were noted for their inability to distinguish between the meum and the tuum—when Bonaparte took possession of Frankfort.

Rothschild's first great financial success was at the commencement of the Spanish conflict in 1808, when his bank was the only firm which could efficiently assist the English government in finding means for carrying on the war With William's sanction, Rothschild's wine casks were made to disgorge their gold, and thus food for firing the cannon, to carry on the well-known metaphor of men being "food for powder," was found.

Meyer Rothschild died in 1812, leaving by will the sum of £100,000 sterling to found a refuge for poor Jews of Frankfort, and five sons, viz Amschel of Frankfort, Solomon of Vienna, Nathan of London, Charles of Naples and James of Paris—as the respective heads of great financial firms in those cities, to carry on the work which their father had so successfully begun.

It is related that when Charles Rothschild, of Naples, speaking of his own children to his elder brother, called them "the young barons," Amschel retorted sharply "Pshaw! make them men of business. The title of Baron won't gain them a kreutzer"

It was by carrying this principle to the fullest extent that the Rothschild family may trace the origin of their colossal fortune.

An anecdote is recorded of Nathan Rothschild, which will show the perils attached to the possession of such enormous wealth On the occasion of his giving a grand banquet to a number of distinguished men, one of his guests, observing the lavish display of wealth with which his table was groaning, made use of a very natural expression when exclaiming, "What a happy man, Baron, you must be!" "Happy man, did you say?" replied Rothschild. "How is it possible for any one to be happy on receiving such a missive as this just before sitting down to dinner?" And taking from his pocket a letter, he showed his astonished guests its contents, which contained the modest request of a loan of £500, with the addition, "If you don't send it at once I'll blow your brains out!"

Money-making was the one pursuit and sole enjoyment of Nathan's life When Louis Spohr, the great German musician, called on him in the summer of 1820, with a letter of introduction from his brother Amschel, of Frankfort, he said to him, "I understand nothing of music. This"—patting his pocket, and rattling the loose coins therein, "this is my music, which we understand on Change" It was in the scramblings and fightings, the plots and tricks of money-making, not at all in the spending, and not much in the hoarding, that his soul delighted. "I hope," said a dinner companion on one occasion—"I hope that your children are not too fond of money and business, to the exclusion of more important things I am sure you would not wish that" "I am sure I would wish that," replied Nathan, "I wish them to give up mind and body, heart and soul, to business This is the way to be happy. It requires a deal of caution to make a great fortune, and when you have got it, it requires ten times as much wit to keep it" Hence when two eminent clergymen who took a warm interest in the Jews, called upon him with a view to induce him to aid in their restoration to Palestine, as his great wealth, it was thought, might influence the Sultan, Nathan declined, upon the all-potent plea that London was Palestine, and that he could not further such an object in any way

At another time two strangers were admitted into the private room of the famous counting house in St Swithin's Lane They were tall foreigners, with beards and mustaches, such as were unknown in the city before the beard mania set in so powerfully as it has done of late and Nathan was frightened at their appearance. He put his own interpretation upon the excited movements with which they fumbled about in their pockets and before the expected pistols could be produced, he had thrown a great ledger in the direction of their heads and brought in a bevy of clerks by his loud cries of "murder" The strangers were pinioned, and then, after long questioning and explanations, it appeared that they were wealthy bankers from the continent, who nervous in the presence of a banker so much more wealthy than themselves, had found some difficulty in producing the letters of introduction with which they were armed

The same intense spirit of money making appears to have been equally the mania of all the Rothschilds, Of James the youngest son of Meyer and head of the Paris house who once entertained Napoleon III in such an imperial manner at his Chateau Ferrieres and who died in 1868 leaving, according to public rumor the colossal fortune of £[illegible] 000,000 it is related as a proof of the strength of the ruling pass on within him that foreseeing that death would cause a great fall in the shares of the Lombard Company of which he was the President and chief support he speculated largely for the fall just before he died by which means the immense profits accruing therefrom went to the benefit of his heirs!

Two sailing vessels were reported off the Bar They were supposed to be the barks H W Almy and Rural from San Francisco

Business revived somewhat to-day under receipt of more orders from the interior for goods to keep up assortments until the Spring purchases are made, which from all advices reaching us will be unusually heavy That interior merchants miss it by not making their purchases now will probably be conceded by them on their arrival to lay in their spring and summer goods Raw materials of nearly every article consumed have been steadily advancing in producing countries as also in the markets where consumed The advances established on Nails, Hardware, etc., East have not yet been made here but prices will be advanced in the spring The advance established here on Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots, Shoes etc are not so high as the advance made East, but our merchants expect to have to make further advance in the Spring—indeed, they will be forced to as goods purchased East cost considerably more now than heretofore Freights from the Eastern States on every article shipped here have been advanced over former ruling rates which, together with advances in the supply or home markets, will add still further to the advances in the California market and in this

Produce Market.

WHEAT—A shipper made an offer to-day on a straight lot of 6,000 centals, held by the Salem Flouring Mills, at a figure above our previous quotations. How much it was we are unable to say, but would think from what we can learn about $1 95 ⅌ cental. Straight lots of from 5,000 to 20 000 centals are very desirable to shippers and consequently command higher prices, but still 10 cents ⅌ cental is too much difference between small lots and straight lots. This offer on the part of shippers causes us to think they could have paid all along more than the quotations given us, as we see nothing to justify an advance in offers over what has been given to us as their extreme limits.

FLOUR—There was more activity in the market to-day but it was for small lots for local trade We continue to quote extra or standard brands at $6 25 ⅌ bbl choice country, $5 75@5 ⅌ bbl, superfine and outside brands, $5 25@5 50

FEED—Receipts of all descriptions it is claimed will be freer next week, but as several mills have stopped manufacturing Flour it is hardly possible that we shall receive more than the trade requires Prices unchanged

APPLES—We note sales of 75 boxes choice to-day at 90 cents ⅌ box.

EGGS—Sales to-day were made at 30 cents Under freer receipts prices will recede, as last quotations from San Francisco were 25 cents ⅌ dozen.

POULTRY—Under freer receipts prices dropped this afternoon to $6 ⅌ dozen
